CURRICULAR ASPECTS

1.1 - Curricular Planning and Implementation

1.1.1 - The Institution ensures effective curriculum delivery through a well planned and documented process

The teaching-learning process is the primary thrust area of the college. At SSV (PG) College, the faculty members ensure a holistic mode of learning by blending classroom teaching with other experiential modes of learning. Through student-centric, interactive mode of delivery of course material with the help of ICT, learning methods are effective and students are assessed continuously. The college follows the syllabus drafted by the CCS University, and the college strictly follows the number of lectures to be delivered per course per programme as stipulated by the university. The timetable/ workload committee of the college drafts the timetable for all the courses and the heads of the department after consultation with the department faculty allot lectures. Care is taken to ensure that courses are completed.

3.2 - Innovation Ecosystem

3.2.1 - Institution has created an ecosystem for innovations and has initiatives for creation and transfer of knowledge

SSV PG College is a well-known centre of diffusion of education and knowledge in Western Uttar Pradesh. Students from the entire rural hinterland seek admission to the college to pursue higher education.

There are a number of hindrances that students encounter while accessing books, journals and other relevant documents.

The college provides access through the creation of e-repositories in the college. The students access the latest resources from the library with the click of their fingers.

The research scholars also stay updated with the latest publications in their area of research as the college subscribes to INFLIBNET and DELNET.

The research scholars freely access journals and other resources at the library as well as through remote access.

During the pandemic, studymaterial pertaining to all the courses taught at the college was uploaded to the college website for the students to access easily.

SSV PG College is a well-known centre of diffusion of education and knowledge in Western Uttar Pradesh. Students from the entire rural hinterland seek admission to the college to pursue higher education.

There are a number of hindrances that students encounter while accessing books, journals and other relevant documents.

The college provides access through the creation of e-repositories in the college. The students access the latest resources from the library with the click of their fingers.

The research scholars also stay updated with the latest publications in their area of research as the college subscribes to INFLIBNET and DELNET.

The research scholars freely access journals and other resources at the library as well as through remote access.

During the pandemic, studymaterial pertaining to all the courses taught at the college was uploaded to the college website for the students to access easily.
